

[Scene: At a gym. Two guys are boxing in a boxing ring. Gabriel walks in. One of the boxer's brutally punches the other and the referee stops the fight.]

MAN: Low to the body. There you go. Go low, set him up.

MAN: That's all you got?

MAN: What you got, huh? What you got?

MAN: What you got?

MAN: Hey, man, whoa. Look, you gonna kill him. Hey, man, you okay?

[Time lapse. Man is putting his stuff in a bag. Gabriel walks up to him.]

GABRIEL: Luther Stubbs.

MAN: Yeah, who wants to know?

GABRIEL: I'm a fan. I saw your bout in St. Louis three years ago. Bloodiest fight I've ever seen. Hear the boxer didn't even make it to the hospital. died in the ring.

MAN: Yeah, well, you know. Everybody gotta go sometime.

GABRIEL: I wanna know what it felt like to take another life with your own hands.

MAN: The guy didn't even cut me, man. Now move.

GABRIEL: Not till I get what I came for.

MAN: And what might that be?

GABRIEL: Your killer instinct.

MAN: Whoa, what...?

(Gabriel gets his crystal sword out s*ab him. A bright light shines out of Man's body and into Gabriel's sword.)

[Scene: ME's Office. Jordan and Lily walk in the house through the front door.]

LILY: And since it's time for Quake's yearly inventory, I have to count everything in the restaurant down to the last wissel stick. It's gonna take days.

JORDAN: I guess that's why you get paid the medium sized bucks.

LILY: And which bucks would those be exactly?

(Jordan notices a statue standing in the ME's Office.)

JORDAN: Okay, okay, what's wrong with this picture?

LILY: Beside from me not getting paid enough.

JORDAN: No. What is grams' statue still doing in the living room?

LILY: We talked about it last night remember?

JORDAN: Yes, I do remember, and I thought that we agreed that it was an issore and she was going back to storage.

LILY: That is before I learned that storage down town is now 90 bucks a month and storage here is free. So, I called Phoebe and decided that she can stay here and last time I checked we were still living in a democracy.

JORDAN: Okay, but Lily, she's ugly.

LILY: Majority rules, sis. Unless, you can move her.

(Jordan tries to move her with her power. She can't.)

JORDAN: Oohh... okay, okay, that didn't work.

LILY: It's solid marble. It took eight of Cam's bouncer friends to move it. It's too heavy for you.

JORDAN: You know, my powers are still growing and one day...

LILY: You can move it into the basement. But until then suffer.

CAM: (from other room) Eeyah!

JORDAN: Cam.

[Cut to the ME's Office. Cam is kicking and punching a dummy.]

JORDAN: Cam?

CAM: Ooh, hi. I uh... I was just, uh...

LILY: Opening up a can of whoop ass.

JORDAN: Yeah, those are some serious moves. Where did you learn that?

CAM: Okay, I'm busted, I confess. I got tired of being the one in the family with the passive power, so I started taking up self defense classes which I've been putting on my new credit card.

LILY: And, uh, this thing?

CAM: Oh, that's Slam-man. Got him off an infomercial.

JORDAN: Great, another issore.

CAM: It's a total and complete martial arts training system. And with their easy instalment payment plan...

LILY: Which you also put on your new credit card.

CAM: He's gonna pay for himself the first time I kick ass on some unsuspected gnarly beast. Come on, wanna see some moves?

(Cam holds up her fists.)

LILY: No.

CAM: Come on. Come on.

(Jordan uses her powers and moves the dummy so it hits Cam.)

CAM: You know that is so unfair.

JORDAN: Hey, demons do not play fair.

(Cam gets Jordan in an arm lock.)

JORDAN: Okay, okay, okay, okay.

CAM: I didn't hear you say it.

JORDAN: Cam, let go.

(Cam has a premonition. Gabriel s*ab Woman with his crystal sword.)

LILY: CAM, what is it?

JORDAN: What did you see?

CAM: I saw you die.
